OUR TEAM

As a service-oriented company, we are very much aware that our human resources and the skill sets of our workforce will be the biggest factors in generating superior results for our clients. For this reason, we have selected only senior team-members for our project manager, supervisor and heavy equipment operator roles, all of whom have between 10 and 20 years' experience in the plantation industry.

Each also has the required experience in handling more than 10 different projects on very different land conditions. We have proven that we can manage hard-land, swamp-land and rurally based projects equally well. In fact, with our experience and successful teamwork, we have proven ourselves capable of finishing a number of projects with such high levels of customer satisfaction that they have led to repeat projects.

We also conduct in-house training so that all staff develop the skills they need to eventually move up the career ladder: we firmly believe in "jobs for life."

“OUR EXPERIENCED AND SKILLFUL HUMAN RESOURCES
HAVE BECOME OUR BIGGEST ASSET.”

Successfully settling social disputes

Our experienced team also has the soft skills needed to settle any possible disputes with local people affected by our projects. This ability to create meaningful dialogue and find win-win solutions is very important to Ergusa to ensure the smooth running of all projects. Communication is always key, and through such solutions we are able to minimize or eliminate the unexpected budgetary impacts that could arise from such disputes.

PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

Heavy equipment

To support our own business, and also as part of our heavy-equipment rental business, we have our own equipment, such as excavators, graders, compactors and trucks. We believe in maintaining our equipment in pristine condition with regular servicing from our experienced mechanics and a ready supply of spare parts.

Quality and warranty

As a company that places great emphasis on clients' trust, we always strive to do our best in all the fields in which we operate. For this reason, as well as our experienced team, supervisors and managers, we also have an internal quality-control team to check that all our work is done according to client's specifications and to the best of our ability.

To ensure our already-high standards are maintained and exceeded, we always reward our top-performing employees and provide healthcare and motivational support. The result is high-quality work that we are so confident will exceed all customers' expectations that we are able to provide them with a three-month retention warranty.
